Ministerial Meeting Is Held

The Crows Nest Pass Ministerial Association held their September meeting on Monday afternoon, September 16 in the Blairmore United Church.

Present were Rev. Rod MacAulay of Coleman, who presided; Rev. Gilbert Johnson of Fernie; Pastor E. White of Natal; Rev. T. M. Conway, Evangelist Nixon of Saskatoon; Miss Frances Hodgins, Rev. W. Dornier, Mrs. Osborn and Messrs. King and Kemp, students enroute to Maritime Universities from their summer mission fields, and Rev. R. G. Thompson.

New officers were elected for the current pastoral year in the person of Rev. Fred Bykes, of Coleman, president, and Miss F. Hodgins, as secretary.

Rev. R. G. Thompson conducted the worship service and Rev. Rod MacAulay introduced the discussion on the theme of reconciling God's love with eternal punishment. The consensus of opinion seemed to be that the divine love is not limited, but the so-called omnipotence of God must be regarded as necessarily limited by the requirements of human freedom.

The October meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Osborn in Pincher Creek, October 21 with Rev. W. Dornier leading the discussion period.

Mining Congress Visits Crows Nest Pass Area

BAIRMOIRE, Alberta — Forty members of the Sixth Annual World Congress of Mining and Metallurgy were visitors to the Crows Nest Pass coal mines on Saturday of last week, guests of the West Canadian Collieries, of Blairmore, and the Coleman Collieries Ltd.

The visiting congress had representatives from the United Kingdom, South Africa, Northern Rhodesia, Australia and Spain.

After visiting mines on the British Columbia side of the Crows Nest Pass the men were taken by bus to view and examine the Teut Mountain Strip mine and the Uppie and briquetting plant of the Coleman Collieries after which they proceeded to Blairmore where they were shown the Greenhill Mine Tippet and the Wemco coal reclaiming plant.

A commentary of the operation of the plant was given by George Watchler, manager of the plant.

The men were then taken to see the famous Frank Slide and Bellevue mine of the West Canadian Collieries. Purpose of the Congress is for the men to study and examine various types and methods of mining so that production can be improved in their own localities and for the study of various types of mining for application if feasible in their own countries.

The group was impressed with Canadian methods of mining and particularly with the vastness of coal beds in this area, and the country in general.

A banquet supper was held at the Turtle Mountain Hotel at Plank for the guests on Saturday night after which the men left early Sunday morning for a trip over the Kananaskis highway to Edmonton.

Story of Coal

William Bird, general manager of the West Canadian Collieries was chairman of the meeting at Plank, and after welcoming the guests gave a resume of coal mining in the Crows Nest Pass and stressed how coal, besides having played the leading role in the economy of Canada, had also been a major asset in the conduct of two wars.

Mr. Bird also indicated that although coal has now dropped to one-third of its usual production and that mining seems black at the present due to oil, gas and other factors, coal mining will again be a thriving industry in this area. This will come in the future, he said, but how soon he could not predict.

Mr. Bird then called upon Mr. W. C. Whittaker to introduce Nathaniel Hew Grace, director of research, Alberta Research Council of Edmonton.

In introducing Dr. Grace, Mr. Whittaker pointed out that he was born in India and had been on the staff of the Research Council in Ottawa prior to his coming to Alberta in 1951.

After welcoming the Congress members, Dr. Grace presented a paper on coal mining. He said:

"This is a great coal mining area and most of you are doubtless aware, in part at least, of the magnitude and variety of coals which are found in Western Canada and Alberta. In 1946 when a Royal Commission in Canada was studying the whole problem of coal, Dr. B. R. Mackay prepared an estimate of the coal resources. It is interesting to note that the three most westerly provinces in Canada, namely British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan, jointly possess upwards of 90 per cent of the total coal resources of the nation. Further, Alberta itself has some 48 per cent of all of Canada's coal based on this estimate."

In concluding his talk, Dr. Grace referring to the formation of a committee last fall by the Research Council of Alberta to deal with the subject of energy, said, "This committee formation was prompted by the recognized need for much clearer information than presently available on the existence of large strip mineable deposits of coal. Apparently there are very large industries whose operations necessitate the availability of such coal reserves in the order of 100 million tons."

Such enterprises obviously will have to be placed in close proximity to the coal reserve and the coal will be simply a raw material, a source of energy, for the operations which are contemplated. I am pleased to say that this work is now under way. The coal industry does face a difficult situation but there are many highly encouraging features."

Mr. D. B. Young, general manager of the Coleman Collieries, expressed thanks to Dr. Grace.

Hungarian Refugees Asked To Claim Their Luggage

The Canadian Red Cross Society is shodding a large quantity of unclaimed luggage and mail for recent Hungarian immigrants from Europe.

Hungarians expediting letters or luggage forwarded from Europe by sea are asked to write or contact the Canadian Red Cross Society, 95 Wellesley Street East, Toronto, Ont.

They should send their full name and address as well as their date of birth and date of arrival in Canada. A description of personal luggage is also requested. Owing to the similarity of many names and the popularity of others, these facts will assist in the disposal of the luggage and the mail.

Jehovah's Witnesses Meet at Coleman

Jehovah's Witnesses of the Coleman congregation (on Friday, Sept. 20) met to approve a petition asking the Dominican Republic to lift its ban of last July 25 restricting the religious activity of the movement there.

According to Mr. W. L. Krish, presiding minister of the Coleman congregation, the lengthy petition cited specific names and places of police brutality that were personally authenticated by eight of the 10 American missionaries deported August 3rd from the Dominican Republic. The missionaries related their experiences at a regional assembly in Baltimore, where the petition was originally adopted on August 24 by 33,091 of Jehovah's Witnesses in attendance.

The petition was addressed to Generalissimo Trujillo, acknowledged dictator of the Caribbean republic, and named the Roman Catholic Church as sharing the blame for the government's action.

Reporting on the atrocities described in the petition, Mr. Krish said: "In one sector whole families were taken to prison and the male members of the families were beaten senseless before their own wives and children. Other male Witnesses were kicked and hit with rifle butts until they were bleeding and fell exhausted. Some were beaten and left unconscious on the ground in the patio of the prison with blood running out of their ears, nose and mouth."

"Christian people all over the world abhor such brutality as this," Mr. Krish said. "We believe freedom-loving people should be informed of it and have published the entire statement of facts with the petition in the October 1 issue of our official magazine the Watchtower, which is published in 40 languages. At our meeting tonight we determined to try to reach every home in the Pass with this account."

Imperial Oil Donates $100,000 For Educational Research

A central research agency to assist departments of education and local school boards in all parts of Canada will be established at once by the Canadian Education Association. Dr. Treffe Boulanger announced today in his presidential address to the Association's annual meeting in Fredericton. He said the new undertaking is made possible by a donation of $100,000 from Imperial Oil Ltd.

The new unit will make the results of provincial, university and other research programs quickly available to teachers and school administrators from coast to coast. At present there are many "pockets" of research, but no central agency to disseminate important findings to those responsible for teaching in the schools.

The Canadian Education Association which is maintained by the 10 provincial departments of education and by some 40 school boards will set up the new research office immediately and appoint a research officer and staff.

Dr. Boulanger, who is Education Director for the Montreal Catholic School Commission, said that in addition to collecting and disseminating information on research findings, the new agency will print and send to school administrators and teachers pamphlets and leaflets on educational experiments and developments.

It will also establish a research reference library, serve as a clearing house for information and act as a stimulating and co-ordinating agency.

Special attention will be given to particular problems in education, such as the identification of gifted children and special education for them.

Commenting on Imperial Oil's donation, Dr. Boulanger expressed gratification that a leading Canadian company has seen fit to discuss with its urgent problems in education and to take this practical step in contributing to their solution.

He went on to refer to Imperial as "a good and generous friend of Canadian education at all levels." In his presidential address to the conference of Canada's top-ranking educators, Dr. Boulanger made a stirring plea for increased appreciation by English and French of the other's contribution to Canadian life and culture. Asserting that the two cultures should not remain indefinitely side by side in "two solitudes" he pointed out that educators, especially in the high schools and universities, had a special responsibility to make the accomplishments of each language group better known to the other. In the diversity that makes up our country we should "sense a unity of aspiration" and "realize that the two streams of national life are but one in love of country and desire to serve it loyally."

The president's address opened the CEA's three-day annual convention of ministers and deputy ministers of education, heads of large city school systems, school trustees, members of faculties of education and other senior education officials.

$2,250,000 Annual Canadian Sweepstake Winnings

Some 200 people win a total of $2,250,000 illegally each year in Canada, reports Robert Walker in this month's issue of Liberty magazine. "More than $2,000,000 comes from the familiar 'Irish Sweep' says Walker.

Sweepstake gambling in Canada is a paradox. In this country "the whole business is illegal," says Liberty. By practice, it appears so only for one member of the transaction, the salesman.

One Mimico, Ont., church treasurer was "fined $50 and sternly reprimanded by the magistrate for selling tickets. "In the meantime, a gleeful winner appears, waving his ticket in a front-page photo, half a foot high."

The winner, it appears, is judged solely by public opinion, which is unanimous in its verdict of "not guilty." It is illegal to buy or sell a sweepstake ticket in Canada but quite lawful to win more than $100,000 with one.

In the story behind this rags-to-riches fairy tale of Canada's sweepstake winners, Walker tells how people dispose of their money. Initially, the winner of a sweepstake bundle finds himself very much in demand. He is immediately besieged by a troupe of newspaper reporters, salesmen peddling anything from life insurance to love, old friends and racketeers.

One Toronto winner of $100,000, Aitons Zaborek, a former $35-a-week immigrant, had this to say on the subject: "People go after the poor man who wins more than the rich man. They think the poor man doesn't know what he's doing. I put the money in mortgages because they have the best security."

Salvation Army Plan Campaign

Salvation Army officials, alarmed by continually increasing calls upon their services in prisons, alcoholic rehabilitation centres, unmarried mothers' homes and welfare centres, announced today that a new and strong emphasis must be laid upon "preventative" work.

While there will be no cut-back in rehabilitation efforts more stress will be placed upon curbing the various forms of delinquency before they happen.

A Salvation Army spokesman said today that the Movement still believes that "the surest way to insure good citizenship is to lead men to God." First expression of this new Salvation Army emphasis said the spokesman, will be a nation-wide evangelistic crusade designed to link up non-church-going people and get them "from the pavement into the pews."

Fifty thousand Salvationists of Newfoundland to British Columbia will unite in special prayer for the crusade throughout the month of November at thousands of Corps and private homes. Following a training period each man and woman will be sent out as "a living link between Christ and the people," intent on bringing into fellowship with the church all those presently outside its influence.

Parents of children who attend Sunday School or other character-building movements but do not attend a place of worship themselves will be called upon. Active participants in the crusade will be readily distinguished by a label button bearing slogan "God Seeks You."

As the crusade gathers momentum, earnest evangelistic campaigns will be held all across the country.

In Toronto the auditorium of the Northern Vocational school has been booked for two weeks in November when the Salvation Army's international evangelist Sr. Major Allister Smith, who prior to his Salvation Army officership was a highly respected magistrate, will be conducting nightly meetings.

The crusade will end at Easter, 1958, at which time it is hoped results will be seen in increased attendances at Corps and Church, and increased active membership.

Fear of Cancer Can Kill

The fear of cancer can be just as deadly as the disease itself, according to Ron Kenyon in the September issue of the Canadian Home Journal.

A study at the University of California has indicated that folk who fret and fidget tend to have cancers that grow slightly faster than those of the happy-go-lucky people," reports the Journal. Fear of finding that they have cancer, plus the fear of other people finding out that they have it, prevents many people from going to doctors.

The Journal tells about one Winnipeg woman who formed a serious neurosis from fear of cancer. She spent a fortune going the rounds of doctors, the majority of whom told her she had no cancer. She was, however, the easy prey of quacks, who peddled "exploratory" operations and billed her for bottles of worthless medicine.

Of the 200 types of cancer "only the deep-seated ones, which are very difficult to diagnose, have a really poor outlook today," reports the Journal. Cancer of the breast is cured in 60 per cent of cases, cancer of the cervix in 50 per cent or 60 per cent and cancer of the bowel in about 50 per cent. "Cancer of the stomach is the big killer, with chances of survival being one in 18. But even the death rate of this dreaded disease has dropped since 1941 from 18.1 people per 100,000 to 14.1 people per 100,000.

Worry kills.

That is why, reports the Journal "most doctors are careful not to hand out too much frightening information about the disease and why organizations such as American Cancer Society and the Canadian Cancer Society try to play down the more terrifying aspects of the disease."

The Queen and Her Clothes

"There are no rules about what the Queen should wear. She wears anything she chooses."

Such was the firm opinion of a palace spokesman, commenting on the widely discussed, and often maligned subject of the Queen's clothing.

In the September issue of Canadian Home Journal, Anne Barrie surveys the Queen's past wardrobe, in anticipation of her forthcoming visit to Canada this fall.

Says Miss Barrie "She has swung smartly away from the conservative, rather matronly styles", and is more and more favoring fashions "hitherto tabooed in royal wardrobes".

Dark or vibrant colors, and slim skirts with straight, boxy jackets have replaced the former pastel colors, waisted, princess coats and flared skirts that have comprised the royal wardrobe of the past.

First evidence of this royal fashion trend was indicated when the Queen met the Duke of Edinburgh at Setubal airport in Portugal after his tour. She shocked the fashion world by appearing in a navy blue suit with "an arrow slim skirt and hip-bone length barrel jacket."

The Queen never wears the same outfit more than once in public. Except for a few favorite clothes which she retains for private wear, most of the official clothes are discarded reports Canadian Home Journal.

Her wardrobe makes heavy financial demands on the Queen's income. She has no official dress allowance. "When the North American tour is over," reports Miss Barrie, "the royal accountant will be looking bills for nearly four thousand pounds."

Canadians will be waiting anxiously to see what the Queen will wear when she comes here to open parliament in October.

According to writer Barrie "rumor has it that her clothes for this tour will be that most spectacular yet."

Magic Banana Torte Is Easy and Appetizing Dessert

Preparing delicious meals without going near the stove is becoming increasingly easy for home-makers — thanks to the pantry shelf and refrigerator with canned meats, chilled soups, salads galore and refrigerator-made dessert.

In the last category we have an entry today which is bound to draw rave notices. A luscious banana torte fashioned of sweetened condensed milk, lemon juice, diced bananas and heavy cream and chilled to creamy rich perfection.

The sweetened condensed milk which comes in a 15 ounce can, combines magically with the other ingredients to produce a rich and smooth filling without any cooking at all. The filling is poured into a rectangular cake pan between two layers of graham cracker crumbs.

This is an ideal dessert to make in the cool of the morning and to leave chilling in the refrigerator all day. Garnished with whipped cream and sliced bananas it looks like a real beauty when served with tall glasses of iced tea.

Magic Banana Torte

1 cup (about 12 crackers) finely crushed graham cracker crumbs
3 tbsps. butter, melted.
1 (15 oz.) can sweetened condensed milk
1/2 cup lemon juice
2 medium size ripe bananas, diced.
1 tbsps. sugar.
2 cups whipping cream

Combine graham cracker crumbs and butter. Reserve 2 tablespoons of crumb mixture. Press remaining crumb mixture evenly over bottom of lightly buttered (8x8x2 inch) square baking pan. Combine condensed milk and one-third cup of the lemon juice; stir until smooth and thickened. Mix together lightly bananas, remaining lemon juice and sugar until bananas are well-coated with the juice. Fold into the condensed milk mixture. Whip heavy cream; fold into mixture. Pour into pan; spread evenly. Sprinkle reserved crumbs on top. Chill until firm, about 12 hours. Cut into 2x2 1/2 inch portions.

Dodgers Say Royals Will Have Park

MONTREAL (CP) — Brooklyn Dodgers will build a stadium for their International League farm team here if the city of Montreal doesn't. The Gazette said.

The newspaper quotes Dodgers vice-president, E. J. "Buz" Buzas as saying the Montreal Royals will get a new ball park in 1961 whether the city or the Dodgers will build it.

The Dodgers recently sold Royals Stadium here, but the triple-A team has a lease on it until 1961. The stadium's owners intend to use the site for real estate after that.

Bavas said Dodgers have no intention of putting out of Montreal when the lease expires.

"If the city does not build a park, we are prepared to build one of our own."

First of a series of large signs, mapping routes through Edmonton. Has been installed on Highway No. 16 west of the city. The map which is some 12 feet tall, and located at the end of an off-road stopping area, shows where the viewer is located, his route through Edmonton to link with highways leaving the city. Others will be located at the other addits to Edmonton, and at entry points of other Alberta cities.
